New approach to Sunday school

AN EXCITING new approach to traditional Sunday school sessions has been officially launched at Kendal Parish Church, with a special advent event providing a fun-filled occasion for all.

Keen for the church to engage with children, the Rev Eric Robinson and Holly Martin, the newly-appointed children and family co-ordinator, decided to transform Sunday school into an interactive hands-on session that makes Christian values and Bible stories more accessible to young people.

The advent celebration certainly kicked-started the proceedings, with 25 youngsters and their mums and dads enjoying a whole host of activities on the theme of light.

As well as painting jam jars to hold tea lights, the children made stars, judged the Christmas card competition, decorated a big advent cake with a nativity scene, sang songs, played games and acted out scenes from the story of Creation.

The weekly sessions will be held every Sunday at 10am and there are lots of fun things on the agenda, including a nativity play and a toy service.
